Fire Systems

Providing fire engineering expertise from concept to commission

When it comes to implementing large-scale projects, you need to know your contractors have the resources and expertise required to manage the task.

With experience delivering substantial and sophisticated fire engineering systems to commercial and service providers in the UK and Europe, COMPCO has the capacity to complete your project efficiently.

Working closely with you, COMPCO's Major Projects team provides a professional consultancy service, delivering systems within budgets and on time.

Acting as principal contractor

Acting as the main contractor on a project, COMPCO Fire Systems offers a full turnkey package for retrofitting systems from concept through planning to final handover and commissioning.

Whatever your project demands, you can choose a management package to match, including:

- Handling planning issues from concept to design
- Construction Design and Management (CDM)
- Appointing key suppliers and labour
- Utilities connections, power and data works requirements
- Comprehensive reporting and project meetings
- Dedicated project team manager and site supervisor
- On-line access to all project information
- Quality checks ensuring compliance, efficiency and excellence

Setting the standard

At COMPCO, we perform all installations to the highest quality and standards. What's more, our work is backed by specific method statements, risk assessments, and health and safety policies.

As COMPCO Fire Systems is LPCB Level 4, BAFSA, Construction Line and Safe Contractor approved, you can feel sure our commitment to service, workmanship and safety will satisfy your every expectation.
